

TRUECALLER INSIGHTS SPECIAL REPORT: THE TOP 20 COUNTRIES AFFECTED BY SPAM CALLS

2017-07-13 LINDSEY LAMONT

Isn't it the best feeling when Truecaller blocks a spam call or SMS? It's like you finally won the fight against spam. But, as we all know, sooner or later you run into a new spammer, and some countries have run ins with spammers more than others.

Scams have been on the rise around the world, and can become easy to target those who are caught off-guard by a phone call or SMS. In the U.S., every year we see the IRS Scams, and premium-rate scams known as the 'One Ring Scam', which has recently been copied for disrupting Sweden with premium rate calls and fake bank SMS. These scams are an easy way to cheat people because it plays with curiosity but also on the fear of missing out on something important.

The Top 20 Countries Affected by Spam Calls in 2017

truecaller

We've put together a list of 2017's top spam-plagued countries. India slides in first with the average Truecaller user receiving 22.6 spam calls per month. Tying in for second place is the United States and Brazil with an estimated 20.7 calls per user each month.

On a deeper dive, we found that there are common categories that tie all these spam calls together. These would be operator, debt collection, bank, political, health, spam, telemarketing, financial service, scam and insurance (see category key at the end of article for descriptions). The regions span across the world, and even some countries that are on the same continent differ drastically in what type of spam call they receive.

India

Top spammers in India

truecaller

India's spam call issue lies with operators and financial services. Many of these operators are seeking to provide special offers for free data, or unlimited calls. Which doesn't sound so bad – until you get bombarded by them.

United States

Top spammers in the U.S.

truecaller

Our research on the United States is especially interesting to watch. Now, only two months after our latest Truecaller Insights Special Report, we see that spam calls in the U.S. have risen by yet another 20% (from 18.8 spam calls), making the United States second in line to be the world's most spam-call plagued country.

In the U.S., our research tells us that spam calls are dominated by nuisance and scam calls. Financial services and debt collectors is also a big category that is spamming our users. This is an interesting observation, as in American culture credit cards and acquiring and paying off student loans are quite frequently adapted.

Brazil

Top spammers in Brazil

With operators being the top spammers (33%) in Brazil, usually these calls are seeking to provide special offers for free data, or unlimited calls. The second biggest spammers in Brazil are debt collectors who make up (24%) of the top spammers in the country – sometimes these calls can be fraudsters pretending to collect money for illegitimate reasons.

Another major spam call problem that the Brazilian have to deal with is nuisance calls (21%). These are more general types of calls that are unwanted and unsolicited that are a disturbance for users, or at the very least, amount to prank calls and at worst, harassment and fake kidnap calls.

A big problem around nuisance calls in Brazil are calls from various companies making telemarketing and promotional calls, which amount to (12%) of the total for reported spam calls.

Chile

Top spammers in Chile

truecaller

Chile's spam call issue is mostly with financial services trying to sell new loans, which is ironic, knowing that their 2nd largest spam call issue is with debt collectors.

Kenya

Top spammers in Kenya

truecaller

Kenya was a different case than our other research. Scam calls made up 91% of the reported spam calls. We classify this because the calls were from people's names instead of businesses.

Nigeria

Top spammers in Nigeria

truecaller

Similar to its regional partner, Kenya, the country of Nigeria also has an issue with spam calls (27%), but is plagued more by calls from operators.

South Africa

Top spammers in South Africa

truecaller

South Africa seems to have more of an even spread when it comes to who is spamming. With telemarketing (39%) leading the way, financial (24%) and insurance (13%) are the most known types of spam calls. Unlike Kenya and Nigeria, this African country only has 1% of its calls marked as scam.

United Kingdom

Top spammers in the UK

truecaller

Similar to South Africa, the United Kingdom has a more variety of spam call categories. With telemarketing leading the way at 31%, it is insurance calls, such as PPI, that is close behind at 23%. The most common complaints we see from our users through social media and interaction, is about PPI calls, so we are not surprised to see this high on the list. In fact, the issue of spam calls is so prevalent in the UK, the government has started to take action. There are also consumer organizations such as Which? That are actively working to lower the amount of spam calls in the region.

Egypt

Top spammers in Egypt

truecaller

Egypt's spam behavior is very similar to Kenya – where you can see a lot of scam calls going on. Judging by this graph, Egypt is the country that is receiving the most scam calls.

Italy

Top spammers in Italy

Italy has a surprising amount of calls in the telemarketing category (53%). We can see that many of the top spammers are from television providers, potentially upselling subscriptions.

The other type of telemarketing call is from energy companies.

Over the past few months, Italy has faced rising prices of energy consumption, which could be the leading cause for energy company outreach to customers.

Turkey

Top spammers in Turkey

truecaller

Turkey's main spam call issue is with telemarketing. The main type of callers are from digital TV providers potentially trying to upsell subscriptions. We also see a lot of financial services companies, and political calls (especially during campaign periods.)

Bangladesh

Top spammers in Bangladesh

truecaller

This region has a large issue of scam (41%) and nuisance (38%) calls. Our research shows many names in combination with businesses, which help lead us to believe that scams are more prevalent in Bangladesh.
